AFTER THE GERMANS HAD STORMED THE RUSSIAN POSITIONS AT JAROSLAU.

In an effort to check the Germans, the Russian forces intrenched themselves in what they believed was an impregnable position just behind Jaroslau, a fortified city in Galicia. The Germans forced these positions, however, and compelled the Russians to flee before them. In the upper photo a group of German soldiers is seen approaching the scene of death wrought by their guns in driving the Russ out. While in the lower photo two German officers are seen contemplating the havoc wrought by their forces in their successful forward movement.

BUSINESS MEN RECEIVING FIRST LESSONS IN CARE AND USE OF RIFLES.

Plattsburg, N. Y.—Lieutenant Bull, standing on the right, is seen addressing Company "G" in the Business Men's Training Camp here, on how to handle and care for their rifles. Breech, stock, barrel and sight are being explained to the "rookies" in such a way that they soon familiarized themselves not only with the technical terms, but also knew how to take care of the guns. While a number of the men in the camp are accustomed to handling firearms, due to the fact that many of them hunt big game in the Rockies during their vacation period, still, the majority of the men knew practically nothing about a rifle excepting the fact that it shoots.

HONOLULUANS AND THE CONVENTION

Answering an inquiry from Kauai as to how a proposal to postpone the Civic Convention happened to arise in the Hawaii Promotion Committee, at Honolulu, Secretary Taylor, writing under date of September 8, says:

"I have your letter of September 7th, and assure you that the Hawaii Promotion Committee advanced no such proposition as the postponement of the Civic Convention. The matter came up in a discussion advanced by Mr. Thurston, who had just come from the island of Hawaii, in regard to the disappointment the Big Island people felt over the allotment of delegates to the Convention. He states that they had worked up considerable enthusiasm and quite a number of people were going, but upon receiving notice that their allotment was small, their enthusiasm died out. That brought up an informal discussion about the Civic Convention and the statement was made that a great many of the wealthy people of Kauai were absent from your island and possibly that this, necessarily, was to be regretted, because they could do so much in the way of entertainment of members of the Convention.

"The statement was made, however, that under no circumstances, with all these little difficulties springing, should there be a postponement, and it was the general consensus of opinion that the Promotion Committee did not favor a postponement.

"Assuring you that the Promotion Committee is deeply interested in the coming Civic Convention and hoping that it will be a large and enthusiastic success, and assuring you that I will be on hand personally, I remain

"Very truly yours,
"HAWAII PROMOTION COMMITTEE
"A. P. TAYLOR,
"Director."

The Honolulu Chamber

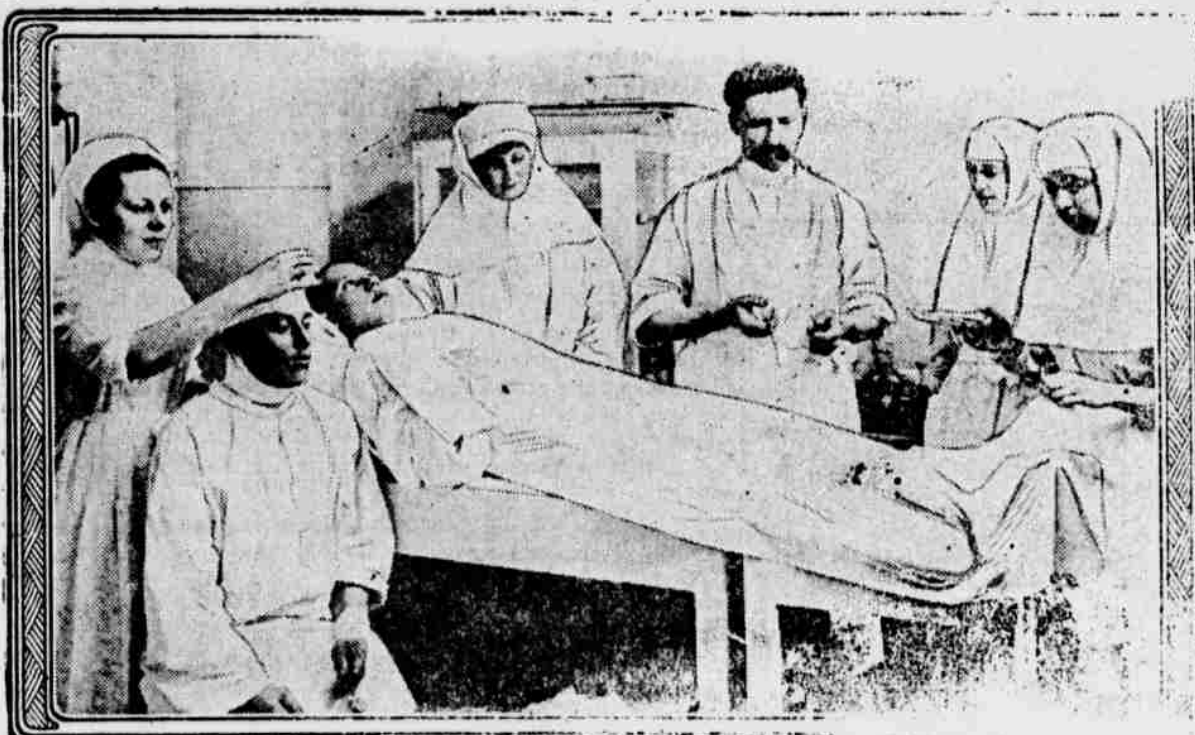

Secretary Brown, of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce closes a letter on the subject of the Convention as follows:

"We had a meeting of our General Committee representing Oahu this morning and all of the organizations backed me up in taking over the Kinau for the trip and arrangements are being made with the Inter-Island people to send her up, leaving here about ten o'clock on Saturday evening, September 25th and leaving there about eleven o'clock on Monday evening, the 27th, so as to arrive back in Honolulu in time for business Tuesday morning.

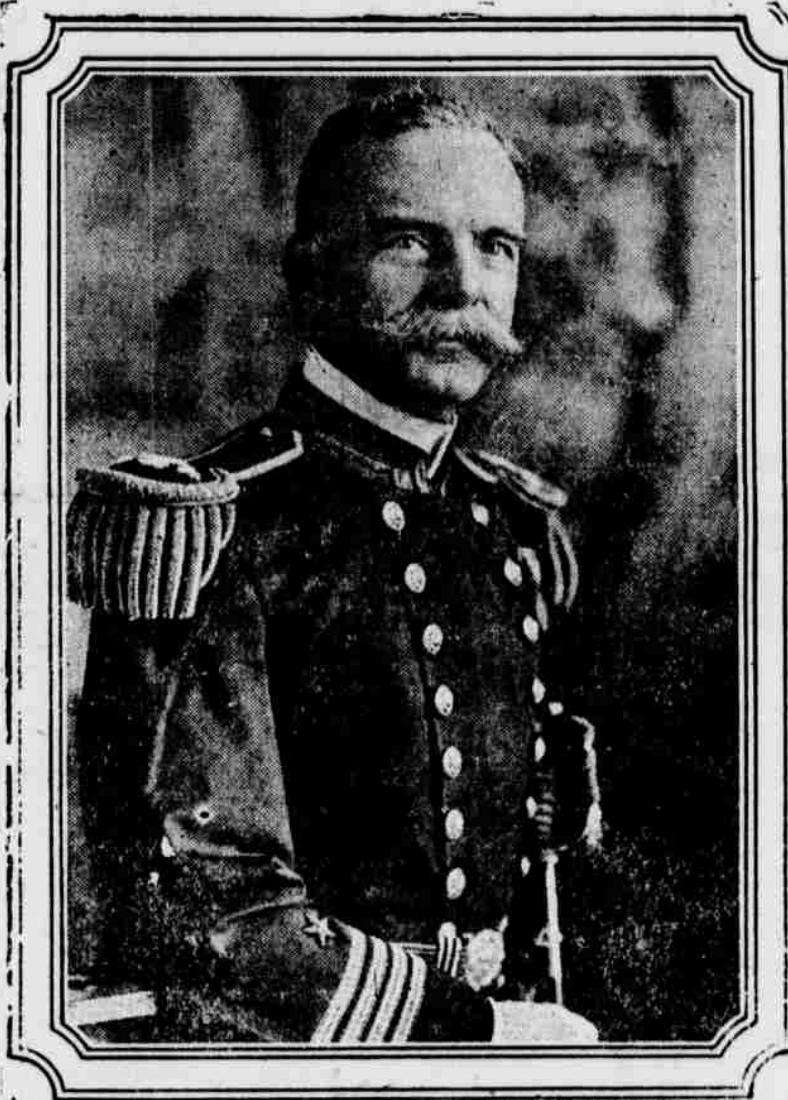

"Some time back Mr. Paul Isenberg, representing Kauai, intimated that arrangements would be made to have us land at Ahukini where the Kinau can go right in to dock, and take a plantation train for Lihue in time for breakfast. I have heard nothing from him since as to whether or not this arrangement has been perfected. It would be very nice if it could be, so as to avoid going ashore at Nawiliwili in small boats. If we go to the dock at Ahukini, we would naturally leave from the same place which would permit of us leaving later than if we boarded the steamer from small boats at Nawiliwili. In the latter event it would be almost necessary to leave very early on account of the hazard that would attend taking delegates out to sea in small boats after night fall.

"Just as soon as possible I will send you a list of our delegates and also names of the two men who will handle subjects assigned to this Chamber of Commerce."

At the end of next week the Kinau will leave Kauai for Honolulu a day ahead of time (or Friday), so as to bring the Civic Convention's party over Saturday night.
